Holiday Soiree '99 by Frank Ciboch

To a lot of people, Thanksgiving is the traditional start of the Christmas season. For me, it's the MVT Holiday Soiree. This always puts me in a cheery mood; the company is always delightful, how could it be otherwise with Triumph people? This year was no exception, in fact, it was even more enjoyable because it was held at our house. As this is one of the premier social events of the year, it was, as usual, well attended with a lot of old and new friends attending. The women talk about... well, I don't know what the women talk about; but the men talk airplanes, mechanical things, and of course Triumphs. One of the great things about this event is all the good food (diets out the window!) that shows up. The dishes are judged participant style in two categories: main dishes, and desserts. The only real problem is that by the time you are done with the main dishes, there's no room for dessert. NOT! This year's winner in the main dish category is Lois Bigler's broccoli casserole followed very closely by Norma Seto's vegetable casserole. I'm not sure if the descriptions are correct but man were they good! In the dessert category there was a tie for first: Mara McKitrick's carrot cake and Mary Bolich's pumpkin pie thingy. O.K., so I don't know what the exact name is, they still were terrific. To show how close things were in the voting, after the first and second places, everyone else was tied! Of course, Ellis brought his renowned peanut butter fudge. This has become a staple at Miami Valley Triumph meets and diet or no, you've just got to have at least one piece. The highlight of the evening is the brown bag auction in which members bring highly valuable and treasured articles, their identities hidden in brown bags, to auction off for the benefit of the club treasury. This event will in time become extinct since brown bags are becoming more scarce. I guess we'll have to have a plastic bag auction. As is traditional, Bruce was our auctioneer; his job made more tedious by Danny's incremental bidding and the general highjinks going on. This year more than any previous, fish made the scene. It seems every other bag has some sort of fish object to amuse and delight. There was, however, no set of Ginzu knives to be bought for $17 (Ask Danny or Bruce for an explanation some time!). The auction is pretty much the close of the evening and the Soiree pretty much ended before 11 with everyone sober and alert. It was certainly great to see all our Triumph friends and hopefully some of you that were not able to make it this year will be able to come next year. Hope you all and our club have a happy and prosperous New Year. I look forward to seeing all of you and participating in the club events with a real live Triumph this year.

Take care,
Frank
